POLS Open Ended Questions

What did you like most about this course and instructor?

Comments

The instructor is so extremely approachable and kind. He has been more than generous in accommodating summer schedules. I also like that he tells us when he is also learning about emerging research in this field.

What did you like least about this course and instructor?

Comments

I wanted to have the class and discussions before the readings and papers. I would prefer a different format for numbering the modules, readings and quizzes. That is all. I have only good things to say about the instructor, and I believe that our university is fortunate to have him in multiple roles.

What could the instructor do to improve the course or his/her teaching effectiveness?

Comments

The modules and readings need to be aligned and numbered the same, and then they need to be listed chronologically. It was unnecessarily distracting to have to sort the weeks and modules and quiz numbers — some of that was made more complicated by the CANVAS list listing assignments and class meeting times out of chronological order. My preference would be to discuss the concepts first and then write papers that include readings, so that more of the ideas have context. It was very challenging to me to write about concepts before the class where we discussed them. I wish it were the opposite (like Modules 1–4).
